

MRS. ADDICKS, DICTATOR, NAMES A SENATOR.

Delaware Republican Politicians Jarr'd by the Word of a Woman.

DOVER, Del., Jan. 2.—Who will go to Washington to sit as a United States Senator from Delaware along with J. Edward Addicks?

"I have no objection to Mr. Higgins," says Mr. Addicks, "but my wife prefers William S. Hill."

And so one of the most curious political conditions on record is precipitated into the current history of the State. The Republican politicians are severely jarred by the circumstance and talk un- willingly of a woman's dictation in affairs of the commonwealth.

Anthony Higgins, to whom Mr. Addicks has no objection, has been the gas magnate's most prominent opponent in the arena of State politics.

Hill, whom Mrs. Addicks advocates, has been known as a lieutenant of Higgins. He is a young and successful lawyer of Wilmington, who has also been a conspicuously active public man. The has never before held office, which is a rare thing in Delaware. It is also rare to hear of a man going straight to the Senate without having first held some other office.

Why Mrs. Addicks, never before known to politics, comes to the front to push a bill is a matter of much wonder. The young lawyer is of an old Delaware family of Quakers, rich, esteemed, solid and most respectable and respected. He represents everything socially and professionally, and which Addicks is contending against. Mrs. Addicks, who now selects him for the Senatorship, was named as co-respondent.

Hill is silent, but that silence may mean almost anything. It may mean, for instance, that he is not grateful to Mrs. Addicks for her remark has made him her candidate, as it were, and to be her candidate may combine such opposition as to insure his defeat.

Mrs. Addicks is described by those who know her best as having very little sympathy with her husband's political ambitions and preferring the quiet farm life at Claymont to the town life at Delaware.

She is the mother of two beautiful daughters, and with them has spent much of her life during the past two seasons.

In discussing the Senatorial situation it is taken for granted that Mr. Addicks has won out, as he says he has, and that one great act at Washington is surely going to him.

WOMAN FALLS TO DEATH.

Mrs. Louisa Merritt Instantly Killed at Home.

Accident is supposed to be responsible for the death of Mrs. Louisa Merritt, who fell sixty feet from the roof of the air-shaft at her residence, 327 Park avenue, to the pavement and was instantly killed.

She was found by the janitor with many bones broken. Mrs. Merritt, whose husband is a florist, had been ill some time. Her son, who is prepared to go for a walk after seeing a friend to look after her children. It is supposed she went to the roof of the apartment-house and fell over the coping.

FOUND CHILD IN NEWSPAPER

Robert Rosenthal Discovered Baby in Vestibule.

No one has appeared to claim the child found by Robert J. Rosenthal while entering a party of friends in his home, 128 East Forty-sixth street. Mr. Rosenthal heard the cries of a baby in the vestibule last night, and, going out, found there a nine-month old female child wrapped in a newspaper. He carried the infant into the house and sent for a policeman, who took it to Bellevue Hospital.

The child was dressed in a pink gown, red cap and a red woolen coat, white stockings and black shoes.

SIXTH AVE. MEET ME AT THE FOUNTAIN 1839 STS.

To-Morrow Morning,
with the opening of The Big Store, our Fifth Annual White Sale will make its initial bow to New York. That it will be an event of more than ordinary scope and importance is vouchsafed by the record of its four predecessors, all of which were eminently successful because they deserved to be.

The Sale Embraces

Children's and Infants' Underminstins, Embroideries and Handkerchiefs,

But Greatest in Point of Low Prices.

The Annual White Sale is one of our pets—an event upon which we bestow with a lavish hand the best efforts that our great buying organization is capable of—and for months the preparations have been carried on on both sides of the Atlantic in order that the sale may come up to OUR standard of excellence. We hope that it will—for it's a high standard—one that but few stores in the whole world can hope to reach. Therefore, it is with pardonable pride that we invite you to attend the opening day, for which we submit the following special values. As the sale progresses, additional attractions will be announced from day to day in the public prints. Please look for them.

Lace Curtains.

We include Lace Curtains in the White Sale, not simply because they harmonize in color with the great January event, but because we can be of particular service to you with them.

We import, as well as order from American makers, for our Spring business, tens of thousands of pairs of Lace Curtains, in immense lots, that we may get lower prices than other stores, and so can sell to you at lower prices.

But advantageous as this plan is from every point of view, it has one disadvantage; we are compelled to buy more than we really need, and it is right here where the January Sale of Lace Curtains originated—the selling off at greatly reduced prices of the surplus stocks. Read the prices, they tell the bargain story best.
